Move to Open Market Earlier

Chamber of Commerce Tobacco Committee to Discuss Its Advisability This Afternoon.

The question of opening the Danville Tobacco Market earlier than October 2nd, the date set by the Danville Tobacco Board of Trade for June 1st, will be discussed this afternoon by the Tobacco Committee of the Chamber of Commerce will meet at 4:30 o'clock to take some action. Secretary H. B. Watkins of the Chamber of Commerce, reported this morning that the merchants of Danville and the housemen have expressed the belief that the market should be opened earlier than the date set in view of the unusually early harvest. It is expected that virtually all of the crop in this section will have been cut and ready for market by the 15th and many of the farmers are reported as anxious to realize money on their crop at as early a date as possible and not to be kept waiting.

Mr. Watkins stated that the Chamber of Commerce still has an open mind on the question and the meeting was called to find out what the sentiment was.

The Chamber of Commerce cannot of itself regulate the opening date of the tobacco market and the results of this afternoon's deliberations will be communicated to the Danville Tobacco Board of Trade.

It is the desire of the merchants particularly is said to be a desire to open the Fall season without any unnecessary delay after a period of trade stagnation, which if not discussed is well recognized. With the farmers eager to convert their crop into money, the share of trade and the help to the community generally through the circulation of tobacco money there is a desire to have the market open as soon as practicable.

market without a full representation of buyers. To do so would be to start the market off with a low degree of competition. In many instances it would be impossible for some of the larger companies to have their corps of buyers on the Danville market before the closing of the Eastern Carolina season when the Danville buyers move up into the Old Belt. These and sundry other questions bearing on the Danville market will be discussed this evening.

TWO FORDS CRASH TOGETHER NEAR CITY YESTERDAY

A Ford truck driven by H. T. Chatman, of Axton, and a Ford roadster driven by Harry Scarce, of this city, collided yesterday afternoon on the River road. Scarce sustained several bad wounds about the head but his condition is not serious, although his wounds are painful. Chatman was merely shaken up. Both cars were damaged to some extent, the passenger car getting the worst end of the crash. The front part of it was smashed and a wheel torn off. Both men were placed under arrest and the cause of the accident will be aired in court.

The accident occurred about 3:30 o'clock. Chatman, driving the truck, was coming towards Danville. Scarce was going in the opposite direction towards Schoolfield. Scarce kept to the right side and Chatman was also on the same side, which was his left or the wrong side of the road, it is said. From accounts given, it appears that Scarce swerved his machine to the left to avoid a collision, and the moment he did so, Chatman cut the truck to his right and both cars crashed head-on with the above stated results.

UNIQUE ADVERTISING CAR

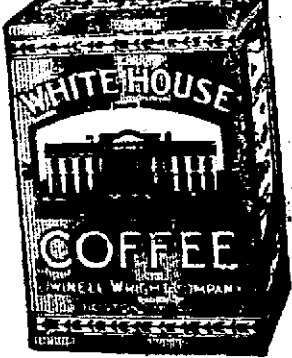

A unique advertising truck was to be seen on the streets of Danville yesterday. It was built upon a Ford chassis, the body being tubular and on the side of the car was the legend, "Rep-O-Mint Lifesavers."

The car is in charge of W. Gordon and C. I. Watts and yesterday they were busy advertising their product to the people of the city. Many thousand sample packages were given away.

The car will leave here today and proceed to Lynchburg and from there to Washington. It has just finished a tour of the State.

D. M. L. To Begin Session Sept. 20

The Danville Military Institute will begin its 1922-23 season Wednesday, September 20. Extensive improvements and changes that have been under way in the buildings and grounds are about completed and everything will be in order for the opening.

The main dormitory has been entirely overhauled. Each room has been gone over, the walls refinished and the woodwork repainted. The class-rooms and the chapel have also been renovated and the recreation hall is now being used by the incoming superintendent, Col. W. M. Kemper.

The temporary mess hall has also been put in shape for use this year. In the meanwhile work has been begun on the new dining hall which will house the new dining hall and the quarters of Col. Kemper and his family. The dining hall, kitchen, and pantry will occupy the entire ground floor, while the quarters of the superintendent will occupy the second story. It is hoped that this building completed some time during the Fall.

Extensive changes and improvements have been made upon the grounds. The athletic field has been graded, plowed and harrowed and made ready for the planting of grass seed. It is proposed to get a good sward on the field. In the front of the dormitory the grounds have been improved, grass planted and flower beds prepared and flowers planted.

Roadways have been constructed around the plant and to the two main highways that bound the grounds. These roadways are topped with gravel and add greatly to the appearance of the grounds.

Some time in the next ten days a fence will be constructed to enclose the grounds of the school. At the main entrance a handsome gateway will be built.

The old gymnasium in the main building which has been in more or less disuse for some years has been completely overhauled and put in shape for use during the coming season. About $500 worth of equipment has been bought and is expected to arrive before the season opens. Col. Kemper has announced that he intends to emphasize gymnasium work in order that all of the students may have an opportunity for physical development.

D. M. L. also expects to get out a first class prep football team this season. Major Rivers will coach. It is anticipated that the prospects are excellent for a strong team.

As soon as the new dining hall is completed it is planned to convert the present dining hall into a swimming pool. Because of the nature of the ground upon which this building is placed it is thought that this swimming pool can be constructed at a very reasonable cost.

Everything possible is being done by the trustees of the school to make D. M. L. the equal of the best preparatory school in the State.

LEE S. PURYEAR DIES IN DURHAM, N. C.

DURHAM, N. C., Aug. 22.—Lee S. Puryear, aged 63 years, former bookkeeper at a local clothing store and well known in Durham, died in his room at the Y. M. C. A. at 10:30 Monday morning, apparently of heart failure.

He had been in failing health for a long time and was unable to attend the funeral of his brother who died in Danville early in the spring.

Although his health had been failing, his death was very sudden and quite a shock to his friends as he was up Saturday and a part of Sunday.

He is survived by two sisters in Raleigh and two nephews in Danville. Funeral arrangements are awaiting word from the sisters. It is thought he will be buried here as his father, mother and brother are buried at Maplewood cemetery.

He was associated with T. J. Lamb, in Lamb's business here for 35 years among his friends. Some anxiety was expressed at his boarding place when he failed to go to Sunday dinner, but since he often missed meals nothing unusual was thought. T. A. Hudson, close friend of the deceased was attending him when he died.

Is Interred With Masonic Honors

The body of Frank S. Woodson, formerly editorial writer and part-owner of this paper and for nearly twenty years identified with the press of Richmond, arrived here at 1:20 yesterday from the State capital and was accompanied by a group of sorrowing relatives and long-time friends. Among those of the funeral party were Miss Woodson, only child of the deceased, Mrs. E. B. Thane, widow of a beloved former pastor of Mr. Woodson, and several others. Mrs. Woodson was unable to undertake the journey owing to her impaired health and physical condition.

Among those who met the funeral party at the railway station were Hon. Joseph B. Anderson, long and intimate friend of Mr. Woodson, G. Mosely, a veteran of the Virginia press and close friend of the deceased; Mayor Harry Woodling, who knew him long and closely; A. C. Conway, H. L. Boatwright, W. P. Boatwright, I. N. Dodson, W. C. OHIO DEMOCRATS HOLD COVENTION

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 22.—(By The Associated Press)—The records of the Republican administration both in national and state affairs, and the reduction of taxes in Ohio, were set forth by Democrats in their convention here today as the main issues of the coming political campaign.

The appearance at the convention of Senator Pomerene, candidate for re-election and of A. V. Donahy, the party's standard bearer on the state ticket, were particularly protracted.

Beyond reaffirmation of the national platform of 1920, the state platform today did not mention the league of nations.

Charges against the Republicans both at Washington and Columbus included statements that "they have been utterly unable to grapple with the problems of government" and that they were "more intent on personal aggrandizement and on plunder for a retinue of corrupt hangers-on than on good government."

Senator Pomerene, in his address, characterized the tariff bill as the "greatest piece of 'pork barrel' legislation in the history of Congress."

The religious services were conducted by Mr. Royall, whose prayer embodied a tribute of appreciation for the life and character of the deceased and a tender consolatory invocation of comfort and solace to the bereaved family and relatives.

The religious services were concluded, the Masonic order gathered about the open grave at the head of which stood Past Grand Master Kerns, who impressively conducted the beautiful Masonic burial rites, assisted by the Rev. Cleveland Hall, D. D., and other members of that order. This ended, the grave was left in charge of the pall-bearers and the Masons returned to the lodge-room, where brief but earnest appreciations of the deceased were offered by the Rev. J. Cleveland Hall, D. D., Right Worshipful S. W. Beach, Worshipful D. H. Penn, A. H. Taylor and others who had known Mr. Woodson as man and Mason during his residence here.

The funeral services were held at the late residence of the Woodsons in Windsor Court apartments, Richmond, on Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock and were conducted by the Rev. C. E. McCluer, of Bon Air, a warm, personal friend and former neighbor. The pall-bearers in Richmond were nearly all newspaper associates of the deceased, including Robert Golden, Douglas S. Freeman and Robert D. Ford, while Frank T. Crump and E. C. Moorehead, representing the Second Baptist church, which Mr. Woodson was a member, and his older friends.

Had Mr. Woodson lived until today, he would have been 71 years old, having been born at Warrenton, N. C., August 23rd, 1851. A telegrapher in his earlier life, he had lived and labored in various cities of the South and had a wide acquaintance among the older men of that employment. Relinquishing work at the key for employment as a tobacco salesman, he entered newspaper work nearly or quite 35 years ago being in this city and engaged in that line for about a dozen years. For almost twenty years continuously he had been connected with the press of Richmond and as a member of the Times-Dispatch staff.

After the death of his first wife, nee Pattillo of Yanceyville, N. C., Mr. Woodson some seven or eight years later married Miss Nora Rice, of Farmville, Va., who, with their only child, Miss Frances Woodson, survives him.

Pardon Sought For Allen Clan

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 22.—Thomas O. Moss, a lawyer of this city, had a conference with Governor Trinkle today regarding the matter of presenting the petitions for the pardon of the members of the famous Allen clan. The men are now serving terms in the penitentiary, four of them, two having been executed. The purpose of the visit today was to arrange for a date for the hearing, when there will come to the city many lawyers and others interested in the case. The Governor has agreed to fix a date, but he has engagements that will carry him over to the middle of September, and between that date and the ten days ensuing he will take up the case. A large number of petitions are ready for presentation, and the lawyers and others will make a plea for the freeing of the men. The records in the cases are complete, and perhaps the greatest fight ever waged for the pardon of men will be made at this time. The four men were in the prison when the famous Allen clan that shot up the circuit court of Carroll county some ten years ago, when the judge, two jurors and one or two others were killed. The prison records of the men are perfect.

A telegrapher in his earlier life, he had lived and labored in various cities of the South and had a wide acquaintance among the older men of that employment. Relinquishing work at the key for employment as a tobacco salesman, he entered newspaper work nearly or quite 35 years ago being in this city and engaged in that line for about a dozen years. For almost twenty years continuously he had been connected with the press of Richmond and as a member of the Times-Dispatch staff.

After the death of his first wife, nee Pattillo of Yanceyville, N. C., Mr. Woodson some seven or eight years later married Miss Nora Rice, of Farmville, Va., who, with their only child, Miss Frances Woodson, survives him.

The funeral services were held at the late residence of the Woodsons in Windsor Court apartments, Richmond, on Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock and were conducted by the Rev. C. E. McCluer, of Bon Air, a warm, personal friend and former neighbor. The pall-bearers in Richmond were nearly all newspaper associates of the deceased, including Robert Golden, Douglas S. Freeman and Robert D. Ford, while Frank T. Crump and E. C. Moorehead, representing the Second Baptist church, which Mr. Woodson was a member, and his older friends.

Had Mr. Woodson lived until today, he would have been 71 years old, having been born at Warrenton, N. C., August 23rd, 1851. Bandit Suspects Are Identified

Three Men Are Held For Bold Hold-Up and Murder in Streets of Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 23.—Presentments in the Hicks, Tase & Norris Company payroll holdup will be made to the grand jury either today or tomorrow by Robert F. Leach, Jr., state's attorney. It was learned on Tuesday night last. All day yesterday Mr. Leach with closed witnesses.

The optimism of the police last night supports this statement.

Charles H. Burns, acting captain of detectives, said that in the last 48 hours police have made more progress than they expected in the hunt for the bandits who ambushed William B. Norris, treasurer of the company, and a companion at Park avenue and Madison street Friday morning. The bandits shot and killed Mr. Norris and got away with $7,263.

Two Will Be Named As Bandits.

Of those now held in custody as suspects, two men are named to the grand jury as actual members of the bandit gang, according to the statement of an official at police headquarters. Just who these men are the officer would not say. But the police have eliminated from the case virtually all but "Wiggles" Smith, Philip Falsas and "Benny" Lewis.

Smith has been identified positively by three witnesses. Falsas has been identified positively by one man and a curiously incident gives the police great interest in him.

Smith, Falsas and Lewis had in his pocket 25 bills of the $2 denomination. Two-dollar bills are not in common use, being practically confined to payroll purposes, the police say. They are seeking to discover where Lewis got his; he has not enlightened them.

$1,000 Added To Reward.

One thousand dollars more was pledged yesterday by members of the Builders' Exchange, to be added to the reward already offered for the arrest and conviction of the bandits, bringing the total to $8,750. Resolutions of regret for the death of Mr. Norris, who was a member of the exchange, were adopted at a special session.

The search for Joseph Hart, alias Haas, alias Stuart, and for Walter Scalow, as other members of the gang continues. It was intimated by Chas. D. Galt, police commissioner, that a number of women, the consorts of men sought now or under arrest, will be taken into custody as soon as they can be found. Several other men also are being sought, the commissioner said.

"Nasty" Scalow Now Quiet.

As the case develops the police men, Smith, Falsas and Lewis stand out more and more from the others. All are known as pals in the Baltimore underworld. They were companions also of Scalow, according to the proprietor of one of the cafes they now frequent. Scalow is very quiet now, but once according to the keeper of this dive, "Scalow was the noisiest of them all."

Other suspects are being eliminated. The last to be stricken out of any immediate capture is John E. Jenkins, former proprietor of the Belle Grove Inn, a road house frequently mentioned in police annals. Jenkins has not been recognized by any witness of the murder and the police do not expect he will be caught in the investigation. He is still held at Central Police Station, however.

Gerald Taylor also is said to be out of the case. Taylor is the Philadelphia arrested by state police near Belair as he was hurrying to Philadelphia by taxi. Inspector Hurley, denying that he was at the Taylor Martin, Pratt and Eutaw streets, at the time of hold-up. But it is believed he may be wanted in another city for a violation of the drug laws and Taylor, it is being held pending investigation of this.

"Country" Carey, a pal of Smith and his cronies, is free.

More Men Being Sought.

It will be in the round-up of other men that more members of the alleged bandit gang will be caught, according to Commissioner Galt. Their women are being sought for what can be wrung from them to illuminate the part their masters played.

"All these men have women," said the commissioner. "Some of them had two or three women. We'd like to talk to these."

Reports were circulated yesterday that a man known as "Nathan" Goldberg, who is called "Goldie" by his associates, had been arrested. By this Burns, who said Goldberg may have been one of several persons interviewed by Mr. Leach, but that he was not taken into custody.

Women Reveal No Leads.

Detectives were closeted hours yesterday with Edna Dorsch and Marie Kesting, the two women companions of Smith's who were arrested Sunday. As they stepped out of a ten-day motor trip for Norfolk and Virginia Beach for a ten-day vacation.

Reverend T. D. Doggett leaves tomorrow morning for Montreat, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Robertson have returned from a ten-day visit to Atlantic City and Washington.

City Auditor R. P. Moss has returned from a visit to Richmond and Petersburg.

Peery-Hassinger Speechmaking To Being Next Month

BRISTOL, Va., Aug. 23.—There seems to be no further talk of a third Republican convention to nominate a candidate to succeed C. Bascom Slemp in congress. It was at first asserted by certain political leaders that the second convention, which nominated Peery, would be held in the latter part of the month. But it is believed that the convention will be held in the latter part of the month.

It is reported that both candidates have planned to begin their speechmaking next month. Peery's forces have opened headquarters in the Dominion Bank building here. Hassinger's headquarters will remain in Abingdon for the present. E. C. Combs, of Lebanon, district chairman, is in the presence of the Democratic headquarters here.

It is expected that Senator Carter Glass, and probably other prominent Democrats of the State, will be called into the "fighting Ninth" to make a speech in behalf of Mr. Peery, who is a trained speaker. The Democratic nominee is to spend all of his time in October in a swing over the district. The Democrats seem more confident than since before the days of Campbell Slemp, the present representative, when the Republicans began to walk away with victory after victory at the polls.

Coca-Cola King Upsets Altar Plan

ATLANTA, Aug. 21.—Asa G. Candler, multi-millionaire Coca-Cola king, intimated tonight that he had no intention of marrying Mrs. Onezima de Bouchelle, wealthy New Orleans beauty, his engagement to whom he recently confirmed.

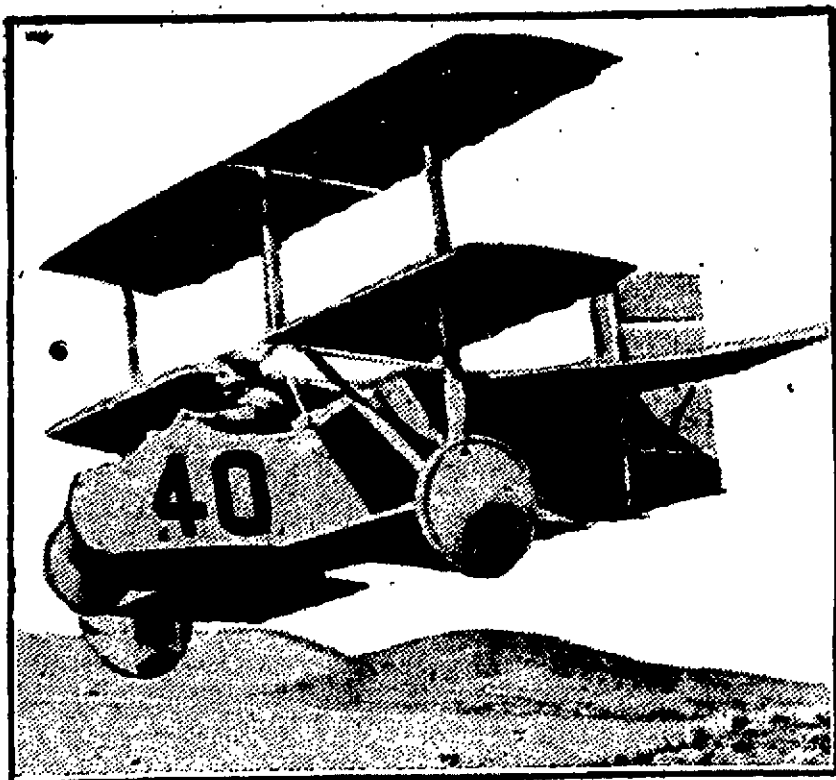

Mr. Candler, when questioned about his departure for California, where Mrs. De Bouchelle had announced the wedding would take place this week, said it would be a physical impossibility for him to get to California this week, and so far as he was concerned the wedding ceremony would never be performed.

Hints of interference by members of the Candler family were ridiculed by Mr. Candler, who said there could not be any interference if he wished to marry Mrs. De Bouchelle, who is in Reno, Nev., in a wire to friends in Atlanta, said the wedding would take place there or in California some time this week, intimating that Mr. Candler was on route there.

Mr. Candler, who is 71 years of age, is one of the best known men in the South, and is considered one of the wealthiest. His confirmation of his engagement to Mrs. De Bouchelle created a flutter of excitement among Southern society, and there have been constant rumors recently that the wedding would never take place.

Mrs. J. H. Jones, Miss Pattie Keeling and Miss Eliza Hodnett Keeling returned from Ferris Training School. H. Jones is visiting in Atlantic City.

John Grant, a negro who recently escaped the chain gang and was later arrested this morning given an additional thirty days to serve on the farm with the rest of the prisoners. When asked if he had anything to say, Grant said that he had a reason to escape. He was asked what the reason was, and said that someone killed a cat belonging to J. P. Brooks, then jailor, and that official had accused and threatened him and he thought it best to beat it. This was not a good reason, evidently for John for he was given the extra month.

Michael Collins Slain From Ambush

Assassination Follows Announcement of Irish Irregulars of Their Policy of Raids Against Free State.

(By The Associated Press.)

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The assassination of Michael Collins at Bandon, Cork, yesterday, comes directly on the heels of an announcement by Irish irregulars of their policy of ambushes and raids in their fight against the free state government. Collins was shot down from ambush only a few hours after he had been given an ovation by the residents of Cork.

Burglars Robbing Country Stores

PETERSBURG, Aug. 23.—Burglars continue their raids on country stores, the last one falling victim being J. E. Lee's general merchandise store, located near Lee's Pond, Prince George county, about 14 miles from this city, which was entered some time early this morning. The burglars made away with about $200 worth of groceries and a small amount of wearing apparel.

Sheriff Boisseau and Deputy Sheriff Wood, of Prince George, were notified of the robbery and "Hurricane" Branch's bloodhounds were rushed from Suffolk early this morning. The dogs took the trail to the country road but here it was lost. It is believed that the thieves had either an automobile or wagon in which they carried away their loot. They entered through a window, according to reports, but failed to leave a single clue. The last robbery of a country store took place about two weeks ago, when Clyde Rouse, according to the police, broke into and robbed the store of Mays & Crowder of Huske, Sussex County, of about $65 in cash.

The negro has been confined in the local jail he has confessed, the police say, to being the murderer of two colored men in Alabama, for which he was serving a life sentence. He escaped, he said, from the State penitentiary last June. The negro is being held in the local jail pending his trial in the higher court some time next month. No one has put in a claim for the negro from Alabama, from which place he says he is a fugitive from justice.

Celebrates 111th Birthday Doesn't Approve of Jazz

GREENSBORO, N. C., Aug. 22.—Bright and chipper, Mrs. Lou Thacker, of Mount Airy, N. C., celebrated her 111th birthday here yesterday at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. J. M. Edmundson.

She "worries" Edmundson because she insists on being permitted to help him feed his hogs and work in his garden, and she wants Mrs. Edmundson to "red up" the house. She refuses to "red up" a corner and let the world go by without seeing some of it. The day before her birthday she rode uptown in an automobile.

Saying that her memory is not as good as it once was, she admits that she does not know exactly how old she is, but Mrs. Edmundson is quite positive that she is 111 years old. She says she was born near Stoneville in Rockingham county, N. C., August 20, 1811.

Four years ago she severely injured one of her hips in a fall and doctors told her that she would never walk again. She laughed at them and today is walking, with the aid of a stick. The jazz of the present day does not meet with her approval. She does not know what the world is coming to. "Folks ain't like they used to be," she said. "Seems like they haven't got much religion." She says she never had to winp but one of her children and him but one time, "for using a bad word, but I licked him so hard that he never used another one."

MRS. WAKEFIELD WANTS TO MARRY YOUNG KENDRICK

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 22.—If Mrs. Keith Spreckels Wakefield, divorced wife of the late John D. Spreckels, Jr., capitalist, wants to marry the young San Francisco man, she will have to pay $25,000, or whatever the court will give her in an allegation of affection suit. Frank M. Carr, Mrs. Kendrick's attorney, announced here today. Mrs. Wakefield who is suing her present husband, Frank Wakefield, San Francisco business man, for divorce, has expressed her love for Kendrick.

Reports from San Diego said John D. Spreckels, Sr., was coming to San Francisco in his private yacht to investigate the triangle involving Mrs. Wakefield, particularly in connection with his relationship to the estate of his deceased son, Mrs. Wakefield is reported to have an $80,000 interest in the estate.

"Mrs. Kendrick decided today to go through with the allegation of affection suit," Carr announced. "Kendrick tried to see his wife in Alameda Sunday night to get her to drop the suit. He is trying to protect Mrs. Wakefield's interests."

Also, Carr expects to file the suit Friday.

NOTHING NEW IS FOUND IN BECK MURDER CASE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Aug. 22.—The report of the army board, which investigated the slaying of Lieutenant Colonel Paul Ward Beck, by Jean P. Day, wealthy attorney and oil man, would not develop any new evidence which civil authorities could proceed further, was expressed today by Forest Hughes, county attorney.

Regarding unconfirmed reports that any board findings submitted today to the Secretary of War weeks cleared Lieutenant Colonel Beck, of misconduct toward Day's wife and attacked the verdict of the court jury, which exonerated Day, the county attorney said he learned at the time the board closed its investigation that it had found nothing which was not disclosed at the coroner's inquest.

INDIGESTION RELIEVED WITH NEW CORDIAL

Indigestion and its attendant ills such as dyspepsia, heart-burn, sour stomach, griping pains, dysentery, diarrhoea, colic, cholera morbus, chronic constipation, gas, etc., and even sick, nervous headaches are now directly traceable to disorders in the digestive organs.

The food sours before it is fully digested, thus putting into the system poisons that are absorbed into the system, irritating the intestines and setting up inflammation. To avoid this, one simply has to prevent fermentation by using Anti-Ferment.

Anti-Ferment neutralizes the acid condition of the stomach, cleanses and sweetens the bowels, soothes and heals the inflamed intestines and increases the flow of gastric juices, giving quick and certain relief. Get a bottle of Anti-Ferment from your druggist with a guarantee of satisfactory results or money refunded. It will improve your appetite, give you peaceful sleep and make you feel better than you ever felt in your life.—adv.

Common Sense About Eczema and Eruptions!

Here's Something About S. S. That You'll Be Glad to Hear.

You might just as well know it right now. Eczema, blotches, boils and so on, is right in the blood. There is no getting away from it. S. S. has proved it. It's the cause of skin troubles and eruptions is in the blood. It isn't com-

STUDY KEEPS YOU YOUTHFUL, SAYS WOMAN STUDENT, 71

Takes course in modern science at the age of 71.

The mother of five children and many times a grandmother.

(By MAM ON HALE.)
THE oldest student at the Columbia University summer session is a woman, Mrs. A. P. Crawford of Greensboro, N. C.

She admits her 71 year proudly and makes you wonder guiltily why you have been associating infirmity and fire-side chairs with the seventies. After all, one may be very young at 71.

"There's no need of growing old mentally at least," she assures you with a smile, reading your thoughts. "It is intolerance and a tagnation that make you old, not years."

"New viewpoints, new interests, and study will keep you young. That's why I am here at the university, taking courses that will wake me up and give me a basis for my home reading during the winter months."

"I'm taking science, comparative literature and a course in radical, conservative and reactionary tendencies in present day morals. These subjects all interest me intensely."

THIS is not her first taste of college life. Mrs. Crawford was graduated from Greensboro College for Women back in 1889, when the collegial girl was looked upon as a dangerous experiment. She studied a year at Vassar College when Vassar was but four year old.

She taught school two years and then married a Methodist clergyman. The duties of her home and parish and the mothering of five sons kept her pretty busy for the next quarter of a century, but they never diminished her love for study.

The sons grew up and established themselves in business and professional lines and she lost her active job as mother.

This year, when her grandson was graduated from the University of North Carolina, she realized there was nothing to prevent her going back to school even though over half a century had elapsed since she was a college student. Hence, Columbia.

MRS. CRAWFORD has always associated much with young people and has kept their point of view. For that reason, she does not berate the flapper.

"Although I am not really sure I know just what you mean by a flapper," she admitted. "The term is used so indiscriminately today."

"Certainly the girls of this generation are reaching out toward a broad, freer life, and there is nothing to condemn in that."

"Perhaps the modern girls do not study so hard as those of the older generation did, but I believe they study more intelligently. There is less excuse today for uninteresting and uninterested girls than ever before because knowledge has been made so accessible, and advantages are within the reach of all."

Mrs. Crawford does not claim any particular credit for her youthful appearance, which she says is merely the result of plenty of outdoor exercise.

SWIFT AND CO. ORDERED TO GET RID OF STOCK

WASHINGTON, August 22.—The Federal trade commission today directed Swift and Company, of Chicago, to divest itself of all the capital stock of the Moultrie Packing company, of Moultrie, Georgia, and the Andalusia Packing Company, of Andalusia, Alabama, on the ground that the acquisition of the stock was in violation of the Clayton act.

The commission found, it was announced, that Swift and Company in 1927 acquired by purchase practically the entire outstanding capital stock of the Moultrie and Andalusia companies, which, it was alleged, resulted in substantial lessening of competition between these two companies and their competitors. The deal also provided the commission asserted, in the complete elimination of competition between the companies themselves.

Swift and company, under the order of the commission is also required to cease from further suppressing competition in trade heretofore existing between the Moultrie and Andalusia companies and from further holding, owning, controlling or operating in any manner the plants and businesses of the two concerns.

NEW RECORDING DEVICE FOR WIND AIDS AVIATORS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—A new aid to aviators in the vicinity of Washington is offered by the bureau of Aeronautics of the navy department, in the announcement of the installation of the 700 foot radio tower at Arlington, across the river from this city, of wind recording devices for the benefit of fliers primarily to get a mast has been erected on the tallest of the three towers on which is a six foot wind vane, which, by electrical connections, records in the office records in the office every vagary of the wind currents, at that altitude. The records, it is said, will be of exceptional value to aviators in showing the more constant currents of the upper air. The recording device not only shows the direction of the wind, and keeps continuous record of the wind velocity at all hours, but indicates the velocity on pressing a button. By counting the number of buzzes per minute the velocity can be read at any time.

The continuous record of wind velocities at 700 feet above the ground will be material aid to aerial navigation over this territory, especially when rigid and non-rigid airships are in flight. Formerly in order to get the wind velocity and direction, small rubber balloons, hydrogen filled, were liberated and bearings taken on them at intervals of one minute with a theodolite. The angles when plotted showed the speed and direction of the wind that drifted the balloons at each altitude. The height of the balloons at the termination of each minute of flight was predetermined by the weight of the rubber and the amount of ballast lifted. The balloons were usually inflated so that they would rise at the rate of 200 metres per minute. When the sky was clear and cloudless they were of heights of 10,000 feet or more.

There are often times when the fog, low clouds, rain or snow interferes with the observation of the balloons so that the advantage of having wind instruments on high towers is apparent. While the pilot balloon method is still widely used elsewhere in the near vicinity of Washington prospective fliers need only telephone to the recording office to receive the readings at any moment.

The triple register, as it is called, also makes a continuous record of sunshine. The transmitter, placed near the wind mast, indicates on the register every minute of bright sunshine that strikes the tower. The purpose of the instrument is to show whether or not there is sunshine or fog that may prevail near the ground.

TOO MUCH COAL CAUSE OF CRISIS, CHICAGOAN SAYS

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Free competition, involving "a gigantic struggle for existence," among the nation's 10,000 coal mines, in which the fittest will survive, will solve the problem of over development and save the country $400,000,000 a year which now is wasted, T. S. Peabody of Chicago, member of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, declared today in a report to the Federated American Engineering Society.

"Too much coal has become a national menace to the industry and to the pocketbooks of the consuming public," he said, and is costing Americans 80 cents for every ton dropped into the bins.

Diagnoses Industry Ills.
Diagnosing the ills of the industry, he said:

"Prior to the war there were 6,000 shipping mines in operation. At the close of the war there were 10,000, which, if operated full time, would produce 100 per cent. more coal than is needed for consumption and export."

Allowing for interruptions due to accidents, failure of car supplies, and other uncontrollable features which seem inherent in the coal industry," Mr. Peabody asserted, "it is safe to say that the present developed capacity of the bituminous coal-mines in the United States is fully one-third greater than any possible demand."

Computing the cost, he estimates the total investment in mines at $2,000,000,000. One-third of this represents overdevelopment, he said, which annually costs the nation $400,000,000, $300,000,000 wasted.

Waste of man power is the second item mentioned. Of the 700,000 bituminous miners, there are 200,000 too many, Mr. Peabody maintained. Their wages, at $1,500 each per annum, represent the annual waste of $300,000,000.

Under present conditions the 10,000 mines each average 100 idle days a year. Based on his experience as the operator of thirty-six mines in eleven districts, Mr. Peabody estimated the annual upkeep of the nation's mines during periods of idleness at more than $5,000,000.

"In dollars and cents, therefore, we have an item in the country's annual coal bill of about $400,000,000 which is directly caused by overdevelopment. Since the normal consumption of bituminous including exports, is about 500,000,000 tons yearly, this overdevelopment is costing us about 80 cents on every ton mined."

Forced Into Struggle.
"Under free competition," he said, "with general industrial conditions normal, the 10,000 units of the bituminous coal industry will be forced into a gigantic struggle for existence, in which the fittest will survive, and those least able to stand the strain will be forced out."

This system, he estimated, will take about ten years. At the end of that period, however, he declared, "we will have only the most efficient mines, able to produce coal at the lowest cost, and while the struggle for existence

WOMAN'S COMPLEX LIFE.
Woman's complex life with its multitudinous calls is given as the reason for many a nervous breakdown. Home work, social obligations, dress-making and the care of children keep the 20th century woman in a whirlwind of activity until headaches develop, backache, nervousness and oftentimes more serious ills which are peculiar to her sex alone. Such women should not despair, but be guided by the letters so often published in this paper from women who have been in just such conditions, but who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

continues competition can be depended upon to maintain a low level of prices. The situation is one that is bound to work directly to the benefit of the coal consumer."

DUPONT IS NOMINATED

DOVER, Del., Aug. 22.—Without a dissenting voice the Republican state committee this afternoon nominated T. Coleman DuPont, of Wilmington, for United States senator and Dr. Charles R. Clayton, of Georgetown, for Congressman.

The platform adopted endorses the Harding administration, asks for living wages for workers and gives women equal representation and rights in the legal organization of the party.

ANNOUNCEMENT

In obeying a sincere desire to render the highest possible service to motorists, we have accepted the dealership of Franklin motor cars in Danville and vicinity. The present and future motoring public, we are confident, will agree that the sale of such fine cars as the Franklin will prove rich in consequent good-will for our organization.

MOTORISTS today demand full value in service for every dollar expended for an automobile. They insist on knowing how the car is built, what it does and how far it will go toward meeting their motoring requirements.

From the start the present period of careful, thoughtful buying has been marked in the Franklin organization by a remarkable sales record. More Franklin cars are now being delivered into the hands of customers than during any previous similar period in the history of the Franklin car, running back twenty years. During the past three months, Franklin business has increased 260%.

These splendid sales indicate that Franklin performance is equal to the most rigid requirements placed upon it by exacting car owners. Back of this performance is the company's faithful adherence to the original Franklin principles of light weight, flexibility and direct air cooling. The striking advantages of the car built on these three fundamental principles are known to Franklin lin owners in these economy terms:

- 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline
- 12,500 miles to the set of times
- 50% slower yearly depreciation (National Averages.)

GUARD ROUND HOME OF PARSON

SALISBURY, N. C., Aug. 22.—As a result of threatening letters received by Rev. Thomas P. Jimison, Methodist minister, who was assaulted, it is alleged, by a postal employee, Monday morning, a guard of thirty-five men went on duty outside the minister's house at 10 o'clock tonight. The special guard authorized at a mass meeting of the shopmen today, will work in three shifts of 8 hours each.

The alleged assault on Mr. Jimison by a postal employee Monday morning was the beginning of action which led to the movement of troops from the Salisbury fair grounds to the Spencer shops and to the Salisbury post-office where the alleged assailant of the minister was employed.

REPUBLICANS IN OHIO LAY THEIR CAMPAIGN PLANS

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 22.—(By The Associated Press)—With the slogan "stand by the president and the national administration" Ohio Republicans laid their plans for the state campaign which will terminate at the polls on November 7.

Congressman Simeon D. Fess, of Yellow Springs, the party nominee for United States Senator, rounded the keynote of the campaign in a speech before the Republican state convention at Memorial hall.

The Republican platform will contain strong endorsements of the national and state administrations. In rounding the keynote of the campaign—"stand by the president and the national administration"—Congressman Fess outlined the accomplishments of the Republican Congress and the Republican national administration under "President Harding, himself an Ohioan. Referring to the national budget system inaugurated by the present administration, he declared that "the day of the pork barrel legislation is forever gone."

STRIKE TENSION HIGH IN OKLA.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Reports to the department of justice indicate that "agitation" of railroad strikers at Shawnee, Okla., is at as high a pitch as any point in the United States with "L. W.'s" fanning the flame. Attorney General Daugherty said today. Trains are being stopped and the mails are being interfered with to some extent, he added.

More than 1,000 shopmen are out on strike, he said his reports show, and in addition there are five or six hundred unemployed members of the local union, who have joined in parades, meetings and other demonstrations which have "worked the town up to a high pitch." The attorney general has authorized the swearing in of sixty deputy marshals, and unless the situation improves additional deputies will be authorized.

The disorders and trouble throughout the coal districts and rail centers in the west, Mr. Daugherty said, show that "neglect of state authorities in Illinois, has been an invitation and cause for disregard for law and this widespread disorders." The federal authorities, he added, had no power to take action in Illinois after the Herrin massacre.

FASCISTI IN CONTROL

NAPLES, Aug. 22.—The harbor of Naples is practically under the control of the Fascisti. One shed alone is held by the communists. The national flag was hoisted over the port buildings held by the Fascisti. The latter occupied most of the port only after storming it in an attack led by Captain Padovani.

NEW FLOOD HITS JOHNSTOWN

SCENE IN THE "FLOODED" AREA AND (INSET) MAYOR CAUFFIEL

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 23.—Mayor Joseph C. Cauffiel, ardent supporter of less than one-half of one per cent drinks, holds the reputation for being chief executive of the nation's wettest city since the advent of the Volstead act. True, the wetness was of short duration.

For it was through Mayor Cauffiel's order the "second Johnstown flood" came—a flood of beer far above the well known one-half of one per cent. Railroads were deluged with inquiries for the "first" train to the "stricken" area barkeeps worked overtime and third rails had more feet on them for on eday Johnstown was wide open for the remainder of the three years since the 18th amendment was passed.

Loaded trucks careened through the streets to satisfy the thirsty; and beer faucets that had drawn only near beer for years poured forth a continuous stream.

However, prohibition agents were rushed to the scene, and after a couple of days of B. P. wetness, had "the situation well in hand."

"Just what I wanted," says Cauffiel. "I asked the federal government to suppress the flagrant violations of the liquor laws and they didn't do anything. So I ordered the saloons wide open. Then the federal government did the rest."

ENGINEERS WILL ESTABLISH MUSEUM

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Plans for the establishment of a national engineering museum, the first of the kind in the United States, were announced recently by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. The collection, which will be a part of the Smithsonian Institution's National Museum at Washington, will be started with various models, drawings, diplomas and medals that once belonged to Captain John Ericsson and Cornelius H. DeLamater, builders of the Monitor, and the pioneer engineers of America, who were associated for 50 years in the DeLamater Iron Works, the largest institution of that kind in the United States half a century ago.

All the engineering societies in America have accepted the Mechanical Engineering Society's invitation to participate in assembling material for the museum.

GERMAN PAPERS ON HARD ROAD

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—German papers are facing extermination, according to a report to the commerce department today from Commercial Attaché Herring at Berlin. Enormously increased cost of operation, he said, together with the impossibility of increasing subscription and advertising rates proportionately have brought about a crisis in the German newspaper world and already 177 newspapers have closed down their plants permanently.

Printers' wages, the attaché said, have increased about 2,100 per cent over the pre-war levels, the price of newspaper paper has advanced more than 800 per cent, the cost of machinery, printers' ink and other supplies has jumped about 40 times over pre-war rates and the great increase in the postal, telephone and telegraph service has severely affected the publishers.

On the other hand, he said, the subscription price of German newspapers has had an average increase of only about 1,900 per cent, while it has been impossible to advance advertising rates to compensate for present operating costs without affecting the volume of business.

The suggestion has been made that the government reduce taxation affecting newspaper costs or that the press be subsidized through the minister of education to prevent the detrimental effect upon the nation of the loss of an active and efficient press service.

"It is, of course, difficult," Mr. Herring said, "for German newspapers to maintain an adequate foreign staff, particularly in high exchange countries. Unless the conditions improve, the German people may eventually become largely dependent upon the foreign news services of the Entente and other foreign countries for their international news."

Relative of "Talt" Hall Indicted for Murder

WHITESBURG, Ky., Aug. 22.—Chilton Hall, aged 20, formerly of Dickson county, Va., has been indicted here by the grand jury charged with the murder of Irvine Potter, about the same age, which occurred at Rockhouse Creek headwaters in this county a few weeks ago. It is said the young men met on the roadside and after quarreling drew their revolvers. Friends intervened and trouble was kept down. Later in the day they met again and without a word of warning Hall is said to have shot the Potter youth three times. Hall fled but an officers' posse arrested him after a fierce resistance. Hall is said to be a near descendant of Talt Hall, former Kentucky outlaw, who was hanged at Wise, in Wise county, Va., over 25 years ago. It is expected that he will be tried at this term of the circuit court.

LET GRETA INVESTIGATE.

Something more than the good name of Greta is involved in the court episode which took place there on Monday and which has resulted in the expression of diverging opinions and accounts of what took place. If the statements made by officers who went through the experience and who, upon arrival here, afforded ocular evidence of nervous tension are to be accepted at their face value a somewhat scene has taken place and the impotency of a Virginia magistrate's court to maintain its dignity has been seen. If the picture has been overdrawn it is equally clear that it should be repainted in its true colors. The town's best citizenship alone cannot accomplish this and the verdict of the people must be returned on the evidence of persons who were actually present. It would be unfair to both State and local officers who insist that a very dangerous situation existed to contradict them on a blank statement based on anything but the statement of eyewitnesses in the court at the moment of the reported turn-out.

What the town of Greta should do is to begin at rock bottom in exploring for the truth. The mayor states that neither he nor the members of the town council had anything to do with the retention of detectives brought in from North Carolina to wrestle with the bootlegging evil and to work up cases against lawbreakers. The State prohibition inspector who is authorized for the assertion that "certain individuals" whom he cannot name retained the sleuths and faked the bill for their services should be compelled to clear up this point and at the same time requested to make it clear why the gentles so notorious about the spurious character of the Pittsboro town put the task in the hands of detectives rather than those of the duly appointed local officers. Is it to be maintained that they were deemed incompetent or lax in their own duties?

One thing is made sufficiently clear and that is regardless of the conflict of opinions as to what actually took place, the representative citizenship of the town is in the effort to clean up the town and which have brought about a revision of feeling towards present-day methods of liquor law enforcement and a growing anger towards a form of fanaticism which seems to have the country by the ears.

PLEASANT GAP, Aug. 22.—(Grapevine Wireless).—Last day of the first half of the week. Skiddo Day! Fair weather, an cool day. Now we can enjoy ourselves without melting the rocking chairs and sticking to the hammock.

Hurrah for the jolly summer vacation season! Three cheers for the good times in vacation-land with little care left behind! Perhaps the only tedious part of vacationing is deciding upon a place to go. But, the limits of your pocket-book bring the number of possible places within a comparatively small range. And, then the decision is not as difficult as it seems at first. After you have chosen your vacation-land and made your reservations for those "two weeks away with pay," you immediately begin to enjoy your vacation. We can do this because of the good times to come buoy up your spirits and brightens your disposition. Then the happy day arrived and you depart to breathe the ozone of the seashore, or the bracing mountain air. There are the happy days—and evenings. You frolic and laugh almost as loudly as you do when you see those funny jokes screened in "Topics of the Day" films. Yes, indeed, a vacation is a great thing. Be sure you take one and make it full of smiles and jollity.

The RED HOUSE MYSTERY

By A. A. MILNE

There was a sudden snigger from a nervous gentleman in the crowd at the back of the room, and the corner put on his glasses and stared sternly in the direction from which it came. The nervous gentleman hastily decided that the time had come to do up his bootlace. The corner put down his glasses and continued.

"Did anybody come out of the house while you were coming up the drive?"

"Thank you, Mr. Gillingham." He was followed by Inspector Birch. The inspector, realizing that this was his afternoon, and that the eyes of the world were upon him, produced a plan of the house and explained the situation of the different rooms. The plan was then handed to the jury.

Inspector Birch, so he told the world, had arrived at the Red House at 4.42 p. m. on the afternoon in question. He had been received by Mr. Matthew Cayley, who had made a short statement to him, and he had then proceeded to examine the scene of the crime.

The french windows had been forced from outside. The door leading into the hall was locked; he had searched the room thoroughly and had found no trace of a key. In the bedroom leading out of the office he had found an open window. There were no marks on the window, but it was a low one, and as he found from experiment, quite easy to step out of without touching it with the boots.

A few yards outside the window a shrubby tree. There were no recent footmarks outside the window, but the ground was in a very hard condition owing to the absence of rain. In the shrubbery, however, he found several twigs on the ground, recently broken off, together with other evidence that some body had been forcing its way through.

He had questioned everybody connected with the estate, and none of them had been into the shrubbery recently. By forcing a way through the shrubbery it was possible for a person to make a detour of the house and get to the Stanton end of the park without ever being in sight of the house itself.

He had made inquiries about the deceased. Deceased had left for Australia some fifteen years ago, owing to some financial trouble at home. Deceased was not well spoken of in the village from which he and his brother had come. Deceased and his brother had never been on good terms, and the fact that Mark Ablett had come into money had been a cause of great bitterness between them. It was shortly after this that Robert had left for Australia.

He had made inquiries at Stanton station. It had been market day at Stanton, and the station had been more full of arrivals than usual. Nobody had particularly noticed the arrival of Robert Ablett; there had been a good many passengers by the 2.15 train that afternoon, the train by which Robert had undoubtedly come from London. A witness, however, would state that he noticed a man resembling Mark Ablett at the station at 3.53 that afternoon, and this man caught the 5.55 up train to town.

There was a pond in the grounds of the Red House. He had dragged this, but without result.

Antony listened to him carefully, thinking his own thoughts all the time. Medical evidence followed, but there was nothing to be got from that. He felt so close to the truth at any moment something might give him the one little hint which it wanted. Inspector Birch was just pursuing the ordinary. Whatever else this case was, it was not ordinary. There was something uncanny about it.

Antony went on with his thoughts. The coroner was summing up the jury, he said, had now heard all the evidence. The medical evidence would probably satisfy them that Robert Ablett had died from the effects of a bullet-wound in the head. Who had fired that bullet? If Robert Ablett had fired it himself, no doubt they would bring in a verdict of suicide, but if this had been so, where was the revolver which had fired it, and what had become of Mark Ablett?

If they believed in this possibility of suicide, what remained? Accidental death, justifiable homicide, and murder. Could the deceased have been killed accidentally? It was possible, but then would Mark Ablett have run away?

The evidence that he had run away from the scene of the crime was strong. His cousin had seen him go into the room, the servant Elsie Wood had heard him quarreling with his brother in the room, the door had been locked from the inside, and there were signs that outside the open window someone had pushed his way very recently through the shrubbery. Who, if not Mark?

They would have then to consider whether he would have run away if he had been guilty of his brother's death. No doubt innocent people lost their heads sometimes. It was possible that if it were proved afterward that Mark Ablett had shot his brother, it might also be proved that he was justified in so doing, and that when he ran away from his brother's corpse he had really nothing to fear of the hands of the law. Mark Ablett guilty of murder, it would not prejudice his trial in any way if and when he was apprehended. . . . The jury would consider their verdict.

They considered it. They announced that the deceased had died as the result of a bullet-wound, and that the bullet had been fired by his brother Mark Ablett.

Bill turned round to Antony at his side. But Antony was gone. Across the room he saw Andrew Amos and Parsons going out of the door together with Antony between them.

CHAPTER XIX
 THE inquest had been held at the "Lamb" at Stanton; at Stanton Robert Ablett was to be buried the next day. Bill waited about outside for his friend, wondering where he had gone.

Then, realizing that Cayley would be coming out to his car directly, and that a farewell talk with Cayley would be a little embarrassing, he wandered round to the yard at the back of the inn, lit a cigarette, and stood surveying a torn and weather-beaten poster on the stable wall, "Grand Theatrical Enter" it announced, to take place on "Wednesday, Decem"

Bill smiled to himself as he looked at it, for the part of Joe, a loquacious postman, had been played by "William R. Beverl," as the remnants of the poster still maintained, and he had been much less loquacious than the author had intended, having forgotten his words completely, but it had all been great fun.

"Sorry to keep you waiting," said the voice of Antony behind him. "My old friends Amos and Parsons insisted on giving me a drink."

He slipped his hand into the crook of Bill's arm, and smiled happily at him.

"Why were you so keen about them?" asked Bill a little resentfully. "I couldn't think where on earth you had got to."

Antony didn't say anything. He was staring at the poster. "When did this happen?" he asked.

"What?"
 Antony waved to the poster. "Oh, that? Last Christmas. It was rather fun."

Antony began to laugh to himself. "Were you good?"
 "Rotten. I don't profess to be an actor."

"Mark good?"
 "Oh, rather. He loves it."

"Rev. Henry Stutters—Mr. Matthew Cay," read Antony. "Was that your friend Cayley?"

"Yes."

"Any good?"
 "Well, much better than I expected. He wasn't keen, but Mark made him."

"Miss Norris wasn't playing, I see."

"My dear Tony, she's a professional. Of course she wasn't." Antony announced solemnly. "And a damned fool," he said again under his breath, as he led Bill away from the poster, and out of the yard into the road. "And a damned fool. Even now—" He broke off and then asked suddenly, "Did Mark ever have much trouble with his teeth?"

"He went to his dentist, a good deal. But what on earth—"

Antony laughed a third time. "What luck?" he chuckled. "But how do you know?"

"We go to the same man; Mark recommended him to me. Cartwright, in Wimpole Street."

"Cartwright in Wimpole Street," repeated Antony thoughtfully. "Yes, I can remember that. Cartwright in Wimpole Street. Did Cayley go to him too, by any chance?"

"I expect so. Oh, yes, I know he did. But what on earth—"

"What was Mark's general health like? Did he see a doctor much?"

"Hardly at all, I should think. He did a lot of early morning exercises which were supposed to make him bright and cheerful at breakfast. They didn't do that, but they seemed to keep him pretty fit. Tony, I wish you'd—"

Antony held up a hand and hushed him into silence.

"One last question," he said. "Was Mark fond of swimming?"

"No, he hated it. I don't believe he could swim. Tony, are you mad, or am I? Or is this a new game?"

Antony squeezed his arm. "Dear old Bill," he said. "It's a game. What a game! And the answer is Cartwright in Wimpole Street."

They walked in silence for half a mile or so along the road to Woodham. Bill tried two or three times to get his friend to talk, but Antony had only grunted in reply. He was just going to make another attempt, when Antony came to a sudden stop and turned to him anxiously.

"I wonder if you'd do something for me," he said, looking at him with some doubt.

"What sort of thing?"
 "Well, it's really dashed important. It's just the one thing I want now."

Bill was suddenly enthusiastic again.

"I say, have you really found it all out?"

Antony nodded.

"At least, I'm very nearly there. Bill, there's just this one thing I want now. It means your going back to Stanton. Well, we haven't come far, it won't take you long. Do you mind?"

"My dear Holmes, I am at your service."

Will Business Rob Her of Her Husband's Love?

By Zoe Beckley.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Could they "live happily forever after?"
 CONNIE DALE was sure that morning, as she left the church on the arm of her young husband, FRED, that they could.

Now starting out on their honeymoon, a camping trip, before Fred took over his new position as sales manager for the Gypsy Motor Company in New York, Connie began to wonder.

Did she or the Gypsy automobile occupy the center of Fred's being? Was the home to be an annex to the salesroom? The uncomfortable thought persisted in her brain.

GO ON WITH THE STORY.

THEY drove in happy yillence for a while. Then, with the persistence of a midge, the thought flew back at Connie of what Fred had said of "selling yourself" as a part of any selling game.

"Of course, dear," her voice was low, as one thinking aloud, "you wouldn't even think of mixing business into our—our home."

Fred was too absorbed in studying the way Gypsy took a stiffish slope to catch the note of incredulity in Connie's question. Connie's remark came, vaguely, more like an academic hypothesis than a definite protest.

"Well, Darling, I don't exactly plan to park a Gypsy in our living room, and sell from that. But, he went on more seriously, "is there any reason if I run across a good prospect who is at the same time a decent human being, why I shouldn't drag him or her or it to my castle and introduce them to my wife?"

"Mm—no. Only—after a hard day's work, I imagine you'd want to forget business and just relax at home," Connie ventured, voicing another of her cherished conceptions of married life.

Fred gave a shout of pride. "Want to forget Gypsy? Not much I don't. Because you and Gyp are going to be mighty good pals, you know. Let me show you how little she is jealous of you!"

Finding the wheel with a little trick he knew, he took both hands off it and hugged Connie into sudden breathlessness. With a squeal of mock alarm, she struggled. But Gyps yran on smoothly, straight as a die, in the middle of the road, even taking a slight bend neatly of her own accord."

"See that?" Fred laughed, kissing his wife and resuming the wheel. "The car that leaves you free! Recommended for lovers. Honest, Con, that isn't a bad line to pull."

Connie was very fond of their Gypsy in particular, and all Gypsies in general. And Connie loved Fred's enthusiasm for the car. It was the stuff of which success is made—this concentration of thought, dreams and all one's waking consciousness on one thing, and that thing a man's life-work.

But when at dusk they came out full into the face of a gorgeous sunset straight from Paradise—surely a promise of the beauty ahead of them at which Connie felt herself speechless with adoration—Fred's comment was:

"Pretty as a Gypsy straight from the works, isn't it?"

Milford's monuments to prohibition are being paid for by fines into Milford's treasury from the rum peddlers moonshiners and still manufacturers of Cincinnati, which is 20 miles away.

The mayor of Milford is their terror. His jurisdiction as prohibition enforcer ranges all over Hamilton county, but Cincinnati is his happy hunting ground. His three officers haul Cincinnati dry law violators before the mayor at the rate of five a day.

"We are the prohibition capital of the state," he says. "And here you see the first good that whisky has done. It has added to the rapidly growing number of civic improvements."

"Whisky money built most of our polling booths, our public playground and parks. I'm going to keep on until Milford hasn't any more stills, and bootleg poison is a tamped out in our vicinity."

Mayor Scott's idea to convert liquor fines into public playground facilities and municipal improvements is perhaps the first of its kind in the U. S. Along with a new city hall, the climax of Mayor Scott's efforts are in the minds of Milford citizens.

R. F. DAUGHERTY BEATEN BY GANG

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 22.—Robert F. Daugherty, sales manager for the Jackson Gas company, was seized by four men while enjoying an outing with his family at Camp Johnston this afternoon and severely beaten.

Mr. Daugherty, with his wife and young son, was fishing at the camp. Four men approached the party in an automobile, according to his story to the police, and after making a threatening remark, pounced upon him and sustained a broken rib, and painful lacerations and bruises. His assistants jumped into their car and escaped.

The men were unmasked. Mr. Daugherty said and so far as known, he had never seen them before. He was unable to account for the attack in any way.

Ladies' Day At Baseball Park

The Danville team returns home today to play Winston two games on the home grounds and the management has announced another Ladies' Day. The Ladies' Day feature last week made a strong hit with the fair and hundreds attended the game. The Abbotts ran into some extraordinary pitching at Winston Monday and Tuesday. Six hits were the total earned for the two days. Four obtained Monday off the twirling of Kahn and two were secured yesterday when Harris was twirling for the Capitals. Danville played splendid ball in both contests and the pitching of "Gudge" Harris Monday and Tuesday and Caviness yesterday was good. The Twins are not expected to fare so well away from home, and there are good grounds for this belief from Harris and Kahn the grounds men of Clancy's crew have been going bad of late. Neither Harris nor Kahn are likely to twirl here and even if they did, hitting of the locals that is anywhere near normal should win with the pitching that has been forthcoming of recent from Danville pitchers.

Fall Dresses Riot Of Color

Copyright by W. C. Collins

Oh, just the merest trifle of a dress! No elaborate trimming, no ostentatious frills! Just the simplest of frocks with a new pointed yoke and wide loose sleeves.

But the colors! Scarlet and gold and brown—brown chiton velvet combined with scarlet and gold metal cloth to give the effect of an October landscape.

It is just one more example of the certain tendency of autumn fashions to stress simplicity of line with beauty of material and color.

Not for years have so many elaborate, broad-based, figured fabrics been used for fashionable frocks.

CREW OF PLANE RESCUED AT SEA BY U. S. VESSEL

WASHINGTON, August 22.—Lieutenant Hinton, pilot, and "the members of the crew" of the seaplane Sampalo Corrales, which left Nassau in the Bahamas today for Haiti in the ship from New York to Brazil, were picked up by the U. S. S. Denver at 7 o'clock this evening in latitude 20 north; longitude 74.35 west according to a wireless message to the naval communications office here tonight from the Guantanamo station. All those aboard the craft were understood to be included in the report that "the members of the crew" had been rescued.

Upon a report being received from the cruiser Denver, it was added, a station tug was sent to assist in salvaging the seaplane. No other details were contained in the brief message received here.

According to the latitude and longitude, it was said that the seaplane must have come to grief in or near the Windward passage.

The seaplane left New York August 17 on a flight by stages to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, which it was expected would be reached in time for the Brazilian exposition, in next month. The route was to be by north American points.

Those who made the flight in addition to Lieutenant Hinton, who also made the trans-Atlantic voyage in the NC-4, were Dr. E. Pinto Martins, navigator and assistant pilot, John Wilchusen, mechanic, John T. Baltzwell, a news photographer, and George T. Bye, a New York newspaper man.

The trip until today was uneventful, except for slight engine trouble one day which caused a brief delay. The seaplane made the run by stages to West Palm Beach, Fla., and then crossed several hundred miles of water to Nassau from where the take-off today was made in expectation of arriving at Haiti before nightfall.

Rising Tide Of Prosperity Has Reached Country

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—(By The Associated Press)—The rising tide of prosperity has not only wiped out the unemployment problem of a few months ago but has created a shortage of men with an accompanying increase in wages, according to employment agents, railway officials and manufacturers tonight.

One evidence of this, they said, was to be found in the raise in pay announced for employees of the United States Steel corporation today. Employment agents complain that there was a scarcity of both railroad labor and farm hands and said that as a result higher wages were being offered. One railroad official attempted to show that the steel companies were being forced to pay higher wages because of the wages paid for the same class of labor by the railroads acting under authority of the railroad labor board.

While common labor in the steel mills here is receiving 30 cents an hour at present, he said, section hands constituting common labor on the railroads are receiving a maximum of 35 cents an hour in the Chicago dis-

Troops Withdrawn From Spencer Shops

SALISBURG, N. C., Aug. 22.—All troops have been withdrawn from guard duty in Spencer and Salisbury today, except one company which was kept in this city but scattered, and the remainder, estimated at about 500 in number, who last night agreed not to move another train out of this terminal until the national guardsmen were removed, having gone back to work today about noon. All was quiet in this Southern railway snop center tonight, and trains were in operation as usual.

The walkout of the big four brotherhoods and clerks, inaugurated Monday night, following the placing of five companies of troops on guard duty on the property of the Southern railway in Spencer, and two companies in Salisbury, ended today when the troops were withdrawn by Colonel Don Scott, at the request of R. E. Simpson, general manager of the Southern's line, east. This request was made by Mr. Simpson immediately after committees of the brotherhoods had waited upon him and requested that the guardsmen be removed, saying that if they were withdrawn the trainmen would immediately return to work and maintain the order would be maintained. The committees were sent to Mr. Simpson after the five unions had held separate meetings, beginning at 2:30 this morning, and voted to mail formal request upon the Southern officials for the withdrawal of the troops.

At noon the troops were withdrawn to their camps, 3 miles from Spencer, and the trainmen resumed their post.

During the twelve hours from last midnight no freight trains had been sent out and no work had been done on the yards. Marching numbers of freight trains which had been sidetracked along the lines leading into Spencer last night following the walkout of the trainmen, were held out on the lines and not allowed to proceed to the terminal. Passenger trains, however, were moved through but considerably delayed company officials, including officials at the shops, taking the place of trainmen. Crews also were called from Winston-Salem, Greensboro, Charlotte and other points, it was announced.

General Manager Simpson told the brotherhood representatives that he would reduce the number of special guardsmen about the shops and property at Spencer, and was promised that the number of pickets on duty would be curtailed materially.

The striking shopmen are said to have joined the brotherhoods in definite promise to the company officials to maintain order if the troops were withdrawn and are said to have assumed full responsibility for the brotherhoods for any disorders that might occur.

The military company remaining in Salisbury is scattered, patrolling the Southern passenger station, the post-office square and other points.

A public meeting at the courthouse here tonight was addressed briefly by J. M. Ellis, president of state federation of labor, who is one of the strike leaders. He counseled all to keep calm and quiet and within the law.

PROTECTION IS BEING URGED AT CLIFTON FORGE

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 22.—Federal Judge McDowell, had taken no action tonight, as far as could be learned, on the protest of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad against alleged failure of the company to protect its workers.

Eight deputy marshals for the Southern railway were sworn in by United States Marshal Smithers here tonight for duty in the Lawrenceville and Richmond yards.

The Southern railway, it was said here tonight, will seek an injunction covering South Richmond tomorrow, ending the strike of the clerks in the employ of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway, from one end of the system to the other, voted in favor of forming the Chesapeake and Ohio Clerks' Association. The idea was conceived here more than two weeks ago and blank ballots were sent out from the Richmond headquarters, giving every clerk the opportunity to vote whether he or she favored the organization of the new association without brotherhood affiliation, or desired membership in the brotherhood.

Of the 3,400 clerks employed by the Chesapeake and Ohio, 11 but 321 voted. Of the 2,679 ballots received, 1,737 were for the formation of the Chesapeake and Ohio clerks association and expressing a desire to become a member of such an organization. Only 14 of the number voting

The only change from the contract of 1920, it was said, was in that the price of blasting powder was reduced from $2.40 a keg to $2.10 a keg.

Settlement Of Coal Strike In Two More States

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—(By The Associated Press)—Soft coal operators and miners in two more states made peace today while anthracite operators and miners in Pennsylvania adjourned a joint conference, subject to call without reaching an agreement.

Illinois and Indiana miners prepared tonight to enter the pits tomorrow, following Michigan, Iowa and Wyoming miners who yesterday concluded agreements with operators. Southwestern operators and miners were holding conference at Kansas City.

The peace negotiations also completed caused the department of labor to estimate the weekly bituminous coal production at 9,000,000 tons within a week.

All agreements thus far concluded have been based on the settlement made at Cleveland last week between John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and his associates and operators from seven states. Under this agreement the miners to work at the same wage scale and under the same working conditions as when they struck April 11, 1933 days ago. This agreement is to remain in effect until March 31, with provision for a fact finding commission to investigate the coal industry and the selection of a sub-committee of operators and miners at a joint conference at Cleveland October 2 to determine methods of negotiating future wage scale.

The agreement between Illinois miners and operators came after almost continuous conference lasting five days. President Frank Farrington of the Illinois miners union entered the conference, which he suggested following the Cleveland meeting, with the statement that any settlement would be predicated on the Cleveland plan. Illinois operators expressed their determination to insist on arbitration, they having offered to pay the wage scale in effect when the miners quit if grievances were submitted to arbitration.

Today's agreement merely provides for continuing present wages and working conditions until March 31, with the statement that any settlement would be predicated on the Cleveland plan. Illinois operators expressed their determination to insist on arbitration, they having offered to pay the wage scale in effect when the miners quit if grievances were submitted to arbitration.

President Farrington announced that every Illinois operator had signed the agreement and said all men had been ordered back to work in this state, predicting normal production by Monday if the railroads can move the coal.

Tariff Measure To a Conference For Re-Drafting

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—By a vote of 193 to 69 the House sent the tariff bill to conference today for its third reading. The six Republican conferees, three from the House and 3 from the Senate, probably will have a preliminary meeting tomorrow and get down to work in earnest Thursday.

The size of the task ahead of the conference committee was revealed today with the reprinting of the bill as it was approved last Saturday, 436 changes from the original House text—a new high record—and the conferees will have to adjust differences on each of these.

In the hour's discussion which preceded the House vote, Democratic leaders predicted that the bill would not be reported out of conference until after the November elections, arguing that the Republicans did not want to have to defend it in the coming campaign.

Republican leaders made no prophecy, but Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, the majority leader, expressed the hope that it would be out "at no distant date."

Representative Campbell, of Kansas, charged that the Democratic campaign managers had arranged a very "unimpaired campaign" to be inaugurated the day after the measure became a law.

"Already the arrangements are made," he asserted, "the stage is set, the prices are fixed; the advances are taken upon every article enumerated in this bill, either with specific or ad valorem duty, and the price is to be advanced on the orders of the importers down through to the retailer."

Chairman Fordney, of the ways and means committee, who heads the House conferees, promised that he would go into the conference insisting upon the original House bill. He said the Senate change from American to foreign valuation as the basis for assessing ad valorem duties was

PAYS PRINCE OF $150,000 TO GAIN FAME AS SPENDER

"DIAMOND MART" KLINE

(By BOB DORMAN.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—What does it cost to see Broadway? A thousand dollars a night, says Broadway's most spectacular spender.

He is "Diamond Mart."—Otherwise John Martin Kline, theatrical "angel" and real estate broker.

"I ought to know," he says, "for I have spent $150,000 along Broadway in the past five months. I have been the kind of a fellow they love along the Great White Way—a spender."

"Diamond Mart" wears a 35-karat diamond ring, a stickpin that looks like a headlight, and so many other gems that he is acclaimed as the successor to the late "Diamond Jim" Brady. Kline sprang into the limelight recently in a legal battle over a champagne bill in one of New York's palaces.

"Broadway is still alive—if you know the ropes," says Kline. "A spender has an exciting time. I like to watch the way they go after my money, the different schemes and tricks they use. Why I've bought quartets of champagne and had them stolen right under my nose and taken back to the kitchen and sold to me over again."

"Parasites flourish in Broadway's night life. Many a man in fashionable rig hasn't the price of his next morning's breakfast. And many a girl, dressed in the latest mode from Paris, is wondering where the landlady's rent is coming from."

"But as a study in human nature, there is no greater field than Broadway. And I get my money's worth in its study. It's the one amusement that I find in life."

Kline at one time was a boxer and considered a promising contender for the bantamweight title, but he deserted the ring when he inherited a fortune of half a million dollars.

"I am amused to see the deference I get from the captains in the restaurants, the way the waiters bow and scrape, the affability of the managers and owners themselves."

"When I come in the orchestra, even though in the middle of a piece, will stop and play some favorite tune of mine. They know there's a fifty for them."

"Should the floor be too crowded for comfortable dancing, the captain will have them announce that 'Diamond Mart Kline will give and exhibition dance.'"

"Royalty never received more attention than the spender does on Broadway."

"But to maintain your honors, you must skimp nothing. What your guests desire must be provided. And when they get tired of local color, a motor trip to the seashore is the thing."

"But don't think that I have any illusions as to the stability of Broadway friendships. When your money is gone, you'll soon be forgotten. The ones that today eagerly seek you out, will pass you by on the streets unknowingly."

Big Steel Firms
Increase Wages

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—(By The Associated Press)—Three big steel corporations, employing normally nearly 300,000 workers today announced a 20 per cent wage increase for all day laborers in their manufacturing plants. The United States Steel corporation took the lead, but was quickly followed by the Midvale Steel and Ordnance company, and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company.

In the absence of Charles Schwab and Eugene Grace of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, no other official of that company would commit himself. Secretary Brown said, however, he did not know of any action that had been taken on the wage question. President Matthews of the Crucible Steel corporation said his company had taken no action "as yet." It was generally believed a financial circles that all important independent steel firms would announce increases within a few days.

News of the increase came as a surprise to the financial district, probably because wage adjustments in other industries have been generally downward. It was followed by slight recessions in the prices of steel shares.

No explanation of the increase was given by the steel corporations, however. It is known that the immigration law has cut off the supply of unskilled laborers which formerly drifted to the iron and steel centers. When the labor shortage became acute last spring and the steel industry began to show signs of rehabilitation, temporary relief was afforded by the employment of men thrown out of work by the coal strike.

Resumption of coal mining and the increasing demand for laborers in other industries, combined with the expected business revival this fall, is resorted to have caused apprehension among mill managers, who feared that the higher wages elsewhere would cause sufficient desertions to hamper their operations at a time when there was every prospect for heavily increased orders.

The U. S. Steel corporation employs approximately 125,000 men, of whom 155,000 are affected by the wage increase. The highest rate paid by the company for day labor, was 47 cents an hour from February to May 1920. On May 18, 1920, a reduction of 20 per cent was announced and in July of the same year overtime was eliminated. On August 19, 1921, day labor was reduced to 35 cents an hour, the rate now in effect. The increase will bring the rate up to 36 cents an hour.

The average pay roll of the corporation during 1918, the banner year, was over $450,000,000, but it dropped to about $322,000,000 in 1921, when there were approximately 100,000 men employed.

A forecast of what is to come is seen in the large orders for rolling stock recently received by railroad equipment companies. The demand in other lines is also growing and there is much rush work on hand.

In excess of the number now available. In this connection it is reported that little success has been obtained thus far in inducing men laid off in the dull period a year ago to return at the wages prevailing before the increase just announced. Many of these men have left the steel centers.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 23.—It's a poor rule that doesn't work both ways. Federal Judge Francis E. Baker of Chicago declared when he granted an injunction to striking railroad men.

His announcement was predicated on the basis of equal rights for both sides after the railroad executives had secured an injunction restraining employees from interfering with business of the road.

The strikers declared that if they couldn't interfere with the "business of the road" then the carriers couldn't interfere with their picket lines. Judge Baker upheld their contention.

ally created agency to stabilize coal prices. Members of the House Interstate Commerce Committee, to which the bill will be presented, said, however, that it would contain no provision for any government agency to buy or sell coal.

The vote was: Hay 161, Carey 219.
